

The Individual Learning Plan (ILP) sets the individual student’s goals and objectives in relation to their research interest and aims at preparing the student for writing their DMin thesis. The ILP encourages the student’s development of their professional skills. It must cover all DMin program requirements for coursework, examinations, and residence; it considers limitations on reading courses, advanced standing and transfer of credits (see section D4.1.1 Individual Learning Plan of the Graduate Conjoint Degree Handbook).
