Course Identification

Course Number: EMP3560/EMP6560
Course Name: Suffering and Hope: Perspectives on Spirituality and Psycho-Spiritual Care
Course Location: Emmanuel College
Class Times: Tuesdays 2-5pm Contact hours - 36
Prerequisites: Students should have completed courses in the religious thought of their primary tradition or receive permission of instructor.
This course can be used as a diversity credit or spirituality credit for MDiv and MSMus. Designated elective, diversity elective for MPS.

Course Description

What is suffering? What is hope? How are suffering and hope connected? How do they connect with spirituality and therapeutic practices? On a macro level, suffering and hope raise issues of ultimate concern in relation to psychological and religious worldviews. On a micro level, how we interpret suffering and hope shape our spirituality, our therapeutic practices and the experience of wellbeing. This course explores diverse interpretations and practices in relation to human experiences of suffering and the possibility for hope through the following perspectives: psychological, indigenous, Christian, Buddhist, Muslim. Case studies will focus on diverse manifestations of suffering and spirituality. Practices for healing/hope will be considered in relation to psychology and each of the traditions. Implications for therapeutic practice will be examined. Students will deepen their understanding of suffering, spirituality, the possibilities for resilience, hope and wholeness. They will develop a greater appreciation for the diversity of worldviews and how these impact psycho-spiritual health and wellbeing, make connections between their faith-based worldviews, their spirituality and therapeutic practices and further develop congruent and ethical therapeutic practices.

Methodologies include lectures, discussion, case studies, experiential activities, readings.

1 This is a draft version of the syllabus and will not be final until the first day of class.
Means of evaluation include participation, reflection paper, case study presentation and final paper, including a case study.

Course Learning Objectives

Basic Degree Level
Students successfully completing this course will build their capacity in demonstrating the following learning outcomes (MPS - ATS)

Religious Faith and Heritage
- Demonstrate knowledge of religious heritage, and articulate clearly their own theological positions in terms of traditions of thought and practice regarding suffering and hope.
- Identify and respect the diversity of viewpoints and practices within their own and other religious traditions as experienced and studied in class.

Culture and Context
- Demonstrate critical understanding of the relationship between faith practices and cultural contexts particularly as these pertain to experiences of suffering and the possibility for health and well-being.
- Employ diverse methods of analysis in relating to the cultural contexts particularly using both inductive and deductive methods of reflection.
- Give evidence of critical self-awareness, with regard to their own – and others’ – faith perspectives and practices particularly as these pertain to suffering and human flourishing.

Spiritual/Vocational Formation
- Demonstrate understanding of the variety of callings and spiritual practices within their and other religious tradition.
- Attend to the spiritual development and well-being of self and others.
- Display capacity for self-reflexive and spiritual practices within communities of faith.

Practices of Area of Specialization
- Demonstrate initiative, responsibility and accountability in personal relationships and group contexts.
- Demonstrate knowledge of theories and practices relevant to leadership with families, individuals and groups who are suffering and seeking practices for healing and wholeness.

For those registered in the MPS, Spiritual Care and Psychotherapy Certificate program, the following CRPO Entry-to-Practice Competencies will be demonstrated and built upon in this course:

Evaluation

Basic Degree Students

Preparation, participation, reading (15%) – In addition to regular and timely attendance, participating in the regular activities of the class, including the reading of the required texts, students are expected to engage in discussion with classmates and leaders on presentations. Note: included in this mark is your preparation for weeks 4 and 5 (Pargament).

Spiritual Gathering/closing (10%) – lead the class in a spiritual practice to open the class. It will be up to 15 minutes, include an explanation of the practice, a handout/attachment to help equip classmates in contexts of leadership/caregiving. The bulk of the time will be in the practice. It can be a spiritual practice from their religious tradition or a constructed.

Reflection Paper (15%) – 6 pages – Reflect on your own experience and interpretation of suffering and the possibility for hope/healing and how this has impacted your spirituality or “lived theology”. Consider implications for self care and safe and effective use of self in psycho-spiritual therapy/spiritual leadership. DUE Week 3

Case Study & Presentation (25%) – In small groups (4 per group), including representation of diverse perspectives, create a composite case study (drawn from the media or from a scenario you might encounter in a helping context) that demonstrates suffering. Ideally, the case study will include dimensions of spirituality/religion and culture as part of the description. Use a psychological and a spiritual/religious perspective to unpack the nature of suffering and the possibilities for therapeutic practices to serve well-being/hope/wholeness/liberation. Be sure to demonstrate having engaged course materials and other research. This will be presented to the class and will engage the class in conversation and learning. Following the presentation, students are required to submit a 1-page report summarizing what they learned through the research for the group presentation.

A short spiritual practice can be lead at the beginning or ending of your presentation and the discussion. Total - 45 mins

Final Integrative research paper/work-in-progress presentation (30%) – 10-12 pages

Explore an experience of suffering and possibilities for hope/resilience from a psychological and 1-2 spiritual/religious perspective(s). Demonstrate your understanding of what this means in terms of practices to serve wellbeing, the implications for spirituality, and therapeutic practices.

The paper should include a case study of some sort, either as the primary focus upon which the rest of the paper reflects or as an illustrative case that demonstrates what has been said. Be sure to show how practice invites research and how research feeds evidence-based practice. A brief description of your paper is due for approval to professor McCarroll (by week 8).

PAPER DUE Exam Week

Each student will present their research as a work-in-progress toward the end of the semester – 5 mins

Some options for the paper (or choose your own with permission):

2. A case-based or thematic exploration of suffering as shame/trama/grief that considers the psychological/psychotherapeutic and spiritual/religious literature on the topic and interpretations therein. Consider the journey to hope/healing through the different perspectives, areas of commonality and difference. In the final section of the paper demonstrate integration of psychological and religious perspectives through a spiritual assessment (Pargament etc.) and therapeutic plan for serving the well being/healing.

3. Utilizing the Forgiveness Project (http://theforgivenessproject.com/) for a case study, consider situations of violence (trauma/spiritual crisis) and the place of forgiveness in the journey to hope (both opportunities and challenges). Consider how understandings of forgiveness intersect with religious/spiritual and psychological/psychotherapeutic theories of healing. Outline how you would engage in helping in these situations.

4. Engaging the TRC Calls to Action, explore the dimensions of suffering present in the TRC findings/narratives. Explore these from indigenous perspectives using psychological and spiritual-religious interpretations. Consider collective spiritual practices to serve therapeutic outcomes.

5. Researching and building upon hope measurement tools and spiritual/religious assessment resources, develop a hope assessment tool for McCarroll’s descriptive definition of hope that may be used as a tool for assessment and treatment in psycho-spiritual therapy.
Graduate Degree Students (ThM, MA, PhD, DMin)

Reflection Paper (10%) – Due week 3 – 6-8 pages – Reflect on your own experiences and interpretation of suffering and the possibility for hope/healing. Consider implications for your understandings of the connections and disconnections between suffering and health/hope. Due week

Spiritual Gathering/closing (10%) – lead the class in a spiritual practice to open the class. It will be up to 15 minutes, include an explanation of the practice, a handout/attachment to help equip classmates in contexts of leadership/caregiving. The bulk of the time will be in the practice. It can be a spiritual practice from their religious tradition or a constructed ritual.

Case study & presentation (30%) – Draw from a situation in the media or create a case study that demonstrates suffering. Use a faith-based and a social science perspective/psychological to unpack the nature of suffering and possibility for practices of hope that can serve well-being.

Final Integrative research paper (50%) – 20-25 pages - Present a case that focusses on suffering, hope, spirituality. Explore understandings of suffering and the possibility for hope from a religious/spiritual perspective and a psychological/social sciences perspective. Demonstrate your understanding of what this means in terms of spirituality, practices to serve wellbeing. Be sure to engage the research to demonstrate the linkages between interpretations of suffering and the possibilities for flourishing.

Please see the appropriate handbook for more details about the grading scale and non-numerical grades (e.g. SDF, INC, etc).

Late work (BD). Basic Degree students are expected to hand in assignments by the date given in the course outline. A grade per week (4 marks) will be deducted for late work. This penalty is not applied to students with medical or compassionate difficulties; students facing such difficulties are kindly requested to consult with their faculty adviser or basic degree director, who should make a recommendation on the matter to the instructor. The absolute deadline for the course is the day the final paper is due. Students who for exceptional reasons (e.g., a death in the family or a serious illness) are unable to complete work by this date may request an extension (SDF = “standing deferred”) beyond the term. An SDF must be requested from the registrar’s office in the student’s college of registration no later than the last day of classes in which the course is taken. The SDF, when approved, will have a mutually agreed upon deadline that does not extend beyond the conclusion of the following term. If a student has not completed work but has not been granted an SDF, a final mark will be submitted calculating a zero for work not submitted.
Course grades. Consistently with the policy of the University of Toronto, course grades submitted by an instructor are reviewed by a committee of the instructor’s college before being posted. Course grades may be adjusted where they do not comply with University grading policy (http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/grading.htm) or college grading policy.

Policies

Accessibility. Students with a disability or health consideration are entitled to accommodation. Students must register at the University of Toronto’s Accessibility Services offices; information is available at http://www.accessibility.utoronto.ca/. The sooner a student seeks accommodation, the quicker we can assist.

Plagiarism. Students submitting written material in courses are expected to provide full documentation for sources of both words and ideas in footnotes or endnotes. Direct quotations should be placed within quotation marks. (If small changes are made in the quotation, they should be indicated by appropriate punctuation such as brackets and ellipses, but the quotation still counts as a direct quotation.) Failure to document borrowed material constitutes plagiarism, which is a serious breach of academic, professional, and Christian ethics. An instructor who discovers evidence of student plagiarism is not permitted to deal with the situation individually but is required to report it to his or her head of college or delegate according to the TST Basic Degree Handbook (linked from http://www.tst.edu/content/handbooks) and the University of Toronto Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/AssetFactory.aspx?did=4871. A student who plagiarizes in this course. Students will be assumed to have read the document “Avoidance of plagiarism in theological writing” published by the Graham Library of Trinity and Wycliffe Colleges (http://www.trinity.utoronto.ca/Library_Archives/Theological_Resources/Tools/Guides/plag.htm).

Other academic offences. TST students come under the jurisdiction of the University of Toronto Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/behaveac.htm).

Back-up copies. Please make back-up copies of essays before handing them in.

Obligation to check email. At times, the course instructor may decide to send out important course information by email. To that end, all students are required to have a valid utoronto email address. Students must have set up a utoronto email address which is entered in the ROSI system. Information is available at www.utorid.utoronto.ca. The course instructor will not be able to help you with this. 416-978-HELP and the Help Desk at the Information Commons can answer questions you may have about your UTORid and password. Students should check utoronto email regularly for messages about the course. Forwarding your utoronto.ca email to a Hotmail, Gmail, Yahoo or other type of email account is not advisable. In some cases, messages from utoronto.ca addresses sent to Hotmail, Gmail or Yahoo accounts are filtered as junk mail, which means that emails from your course instructor may end up in your spam or junk mail folder.

Email communication with the course instructor. The instructor aims to respond to email communications from students in a timely manner. All email communications from students should be sent from a utoronto email address. Email communications from other email addresses are not secure, and also the instructor cannot readily identify them as being legitimate emails from students. The instructor is not obliged to respond to email from non-utoronto addresses.
